

Voice of Opinion

By James Thrasher

Chairman Leo Allen of the House Rules Committee, who has kept the military training bill on ice for nearly ten months, isn't going to be hurried on a draft bill either. "It doesn't matter whether the bill gets out this week or next," said the man who decides what bills shall come before the House, and when. "We want to hear all the witnesses."

The committee usually finishes hearings in one sitting. But Chairman Allen doesn't like either DMT or the draft, and makes no bones about it. So debate on the draft bill may not start before Congress adjourns for the political conventions. As for DMT, it may never get out of committee.

Chairman Allen put no hurdle in the way of the Mundt-Nixon Bill to expose and control communism in America. That one was rushed through the House at breakneck speed, with no modifying amendments, as important legislation goes, precious little debate. Now the bill is before the Senate, and the same basic situation—the threat which communism offers this nation's safety. But the House, and its Rules Committee in particular, has taken them up in an order which betrays a dangerous near-sightedness.

The Mundt-Nixon bill is excellent in intent. But it deals with a tricky subject made up of intangibles as well as tangibles. As it stands, there is a question of whether it could be interpreted to penalize thought as well as action. And if mere sympathy for communism were to be declared illegal, then we should indeed be embarking on a dangerous course.

This piece of legislation deserved calm, thorough, thoughtful debate. Instead it was considered in speed and anger. The two American Labor Party members, who are definitely pro-communism, helped create this atmosphere by their opposition to the bill. They inflamed the tempers of members who hate communism with a hysterical bitterness.

It is natural and laudable to hate communism as it is practiced by the Soviets and their agents. But there is cause for uneasiness when hatred of communism abroad. One would think, from the House action, that the greatest danger from communism was right at home. One would think that the American Reds counted their memberships in the millions, and that they were as rich and powerful and well-armed as they were numerous. One would think that the country was cluttered with unemployment, poverty and unrest, and ripe for revolution.

One would also think that the greedy, ambitious Soviet government had not gobbled up its neighbors and was now crouching hungrily at the threshold of free Europe.

The menace of communism in America cannot be dismissed as non-existent. But it is not as important, while a mighty Red army confronts an almost defenseless Europe, as the necessity of building up our military strength to a minimum of peace-time safety. And that strength will be achieved simply by voting funds for more airplanes and carriers. More equipment, more training, more military service are needed while the Mundt-Nixon Express goes roaring by.

Chairman Allen does not like the idea of using men as well as machines for national defense. So military training and military service are sidetracked while the Mundt-Nixon Express goes roaring by.

Tests Reveal Horse Meat Was Sold

Houston, Tex., June 8—(UP)—Horse meat was sold in beef in at least 32 places in the Houston area, a month's state laboratory tests revealed today.

The Harris county grand jury in investigating the alleged sale of horse meat for human consumption, had taken testimony from 32 witnesses in the Houston area, where the job of tracing down the course of this illegal meat was then begun.

Of 50 samples, taken by inspectors working under J. F. Lakey of the state health department, 32 were found in laboratory tests to contain horse meat. The samples were secured during the undercover phase of the investigation of the horse meat racket.

These samples were in addition to the one taken from a public school cafeteria by school officials. This sample tested "positive" for horse meat.

When the grand jury receives the state report, proprietors and employees of the retail shops and eateries where horse meat was found will be called to tell where they got it and who sold it to them.

During the previous three grand jury sessions testimony from more than 100 witnesses centered about packing houses, slaughter houses and wholesalers.

Draft Bill Not Affect Arkansas

Little Rock, June 8—(P)—The poll tax rider tacked on the proposed draft bill by the Senate yesterday will not affect at least poll tax state.

Arkansas already permits its citizens, while serving in the armed forces, to vote without payment of a poll tax.

An amendment to the state constitution, approved at the Nov. 7, 1944 general election, provides that "any citizen of Arkansas, while serving in the armed forces of the United States may vote in any election, without having paid a poll tax, if otherwise qualified to vote in any such election."

Sen. Langer (R-ND), seeking to add a series of civil rights amendments to the draft bill, succeeded in getting approval of one permitting members of the armed forces to vote in federal elections without a poll tax.

Voting by citizens in military service became quite an issue in Arkansas during the war years. Since payment of a poll tax as a qualification for voting is required by the state constitution, nothing could be done about that until the 1944 general election.

The 1943 legislature, however, passed two acts designed to facilitate voting by military personnel. One removed the poll tax assessment provision for citizens returning from military service. Under the assessment deadlines then in effect, many such citizens would have been unable to obtain poll tax.

Another act authorized county clerks to mail absentee ballots to citizens away from their regular voting places because of military service.

The constitutional amendment to remove the poll tax requirement for military personnel was proposed at the same time, but it could not be passed until the next general election.

Mystery Story Writer Victim of Murder

Philadelphia, June 8—(UP)—A 43-year-old woman mystery story writer today was the victim of a brutal, almost defenseless murder.

The brutally brutal, nude body of Mrs. Katherine Meller, mother of an 18-year-old son now in the navy, was found last night sprawled across her blood-spattered bed.

Her husband, Charles, 47, a former newspaper feature writer, told police he discovered the body on his return to the apartment from work at a dairy plant. Police immediately took him into custody for questioning.

Mrs. Meller wore only a pair of silk stockings, rolled down nearly to her ankles, police said. Around her neck was a gold chain and locket.

Investigators said both eyes were blacked out and severe bruises marked her entire body. One police spokesman said her assailant apparently battered her savagely with his fists and some heavy instrument.

Meller, employed as a clerk since the suspension of the Philadelphia Record in February 1947, said he brought home a pint of ice cream from the dairy plant.

Called to his wife as he entered the apartment, he received no answer. Meller said he walked into the bedroom and found the body.

Her head rested on the blood-soaked pillow and both legs dangled over the side of the bed, the feet barely touching the floor, police said. Part of her blood-covered underclothing was found under the pillow while her other clothes were scattered about the room.

British Ask Reds to Get Out of Building

Berlin, June 8—(UP)—The British have asked the Russians to get out of the big Rundfunkhaus or radio building where the Soviets operate the Berlin radio inside the British sector, it was disclosed today.

The Soviet News Bureau, in reporting the evacuation request, said retaliation measures were probable. It noted that communication lines between Berlin and the western zones pass through the Russian-occupied area.

British authorities said a letter containing the request was sent June 5, and no reply had been received. Maj. Gen. V. J. E. Westropp signed it for the British military government. He said the bus station had been given ample time to vacate the building since the subject had been under discussion at four-power committee meetings for some months.

The British were threatened to touch off a new round of friction and reprisals between the East and West in the long feud between the two sides here.

Blonde Finds Pick Better Than Expected

Daytona Beach, Fla., June 8 (UP)—Blonde Dorothy Lawlor's search for a husband (and $10,000) ran into complications today when the man she chose said he was still married.

The 28-year-old hatcheck girl from Hempstead, N. Y., flew here from New York City yesterday to meet Dan Wicker, a Daytona Beach tavern owner who answered her advertisement and bid $13,000 for her hand.

"That's right," Wicker said when asked if he was still married, "but that's something I don't want to talk about right now. It makes me mad every time I think about it."

He declined to elaborate or say who drove her to his dining spot, "Danny's Musical Bar," on the edge of Daytona Beach. After that Wicker spent most of the night behind the bar, mixing "Dorothy" and the crowds that jammed his club.

"Filling in for a sick bartender," he explained briefly. He managed to get away briefly at 11 to take Mrs. Lawlor to dinner, after she complained that she was getting hungry. But an hour and a half later they returned and Wicker went back behind the bar.

They drove to the swank Seabreeze Club to make a night of it for Wicker's prize. "We've just met," Wicker said. "See us tomorrow and we'll give you a good statement."

The blonde divorcee chose Wicker from about a dozen applicants for her hand, who answered her want ad seeking a husband willing to make an immediate $10,000 settlement.

She said she picked him for his wonderful sense of humor. Also, Wicker upped the ante to $13,000, she said.

When she stepped off the plane yesterday she spotted Wicker from a photo he had sent and greeted him with a tremendous hug. He was wearing an ice cream suit, white with inch-and-half blue checks.

"She's a beautiful child," was Wicker's first comment. "He's" swell, better than I thought," Mrs. Lawlor said. They said they planned to get acquainted by driving around Florida in Wicker's new car and going deep-sea fishing in his cruiser.

Meanwhile, business at "Danny's Musical Bar" was almost too good. "Dorothy" Lawlor's cocktail mixture of brandy, rum, lime juice and cherries—were selling for $1.75 each.

Customers got a dividend though. In route to Mrs. Lawlor the drinks came wrapped in $1 bills for napkins.

Memphis Mayor Pledges to Fight Race Track

Memphis, Tenn., June 8—(P)—Mayor James P. Hays said he "never cease fighting" the proposed horse race track at West Memphis, Ark.

Pleasants attacked the proposal and Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas in a statement yesterday in which he called the track "the proposed Ben Laney Downs" and "the governor's West Memphis race track."

He said, "there will be no letup in this fight." The track, he added, would be an "evil influence" in "our front yard."

Pleasants brought Shelby county political leader E. H. Crump and the proposed new multi-million dollar Mississippi river bridge into the argument.

He said the new four-lane free bridge will not be completed before the latter part of 1949, and possibly not until 1950. I am very certain that Mr. E. H. Crump would not have worked 12 years on the bridge as he will have worked by the time it is completed, but he thought it would be used as the main entrance to a gambling hell.

Nor will the present bridge serve those human bloodsuckers, the race track gamblers.

Find Cupid Has Gone on the Stock Exchange and Matrimony Now Wears a Price Tag

By HAL BOYLE

New York, —(P)—Money whispers love's sweet nothings today. Cupid has gone on the stock exchange. Matrimony is wearing a price tag.

Across the country grass widows and spinsters are springing up like dandelions to announce their willingness to race to the altar with the right man. But he doesn't have to be tall, dark and handsome. The first qualification of their atom age romances is a five-figure bank account.

The new pattern in leap year courtships was set by a sprightly suburban blonde with one divorce and two children. She had scores of offers since she began looking for a husband with $10,000. A brunette in Seattle went her one better by advertising for a husband with $10,000—plus a home.

And now the field is flooded with unwed damsels who've put themselves on the matrimonial market for a price. They're trading in "love" for a dollar and a half.

But the old iron law of supply and demand has set in. Some girls have cut the asking price to $5,000 and a wedding ring, and the bachelor of thirty will marry. And the odds are only 2-to-1 against him at 40, and 10-to-1 at 50.

It just seems like more people want to marry bachelors than are willing to wed, bed and board with spinsters.

The plain truth is, fellows, that good men are in short supply and getting scarcer all the time. It's the women who ought to be bidding for us. If it's the woman who can't let her start paying. Anybody know a lonely widow who can cook?—and has $50,000 to cook with?

Hempstead Far Short of Bond Quota

Hempstead county reached 32.5 percent of its security loan campaign quota of $150,000 by the end of May and thus ranks below the average of 34.3 percent the state director announced. Total sales from May 23 to 29 were $394,778, bringing the county total to $48,778.

My wife, Frances, just read this piece. She thinks my idea of woman-bidding for husbands is completely silly.

"Listen, my little child bride-groom," she said, "if there is going to be any lonely widow with $50,000 around this house, I want it to be me."

UN Observers Leave for Palestine

By LARRY HAUCK

Lake Success, June 8—(P)—The United States announcement that 21 military observers are leaving immediately for Palestine today raised new hopes here for an Arab Jewish truce.

The view was taken in United Nations circles that Count Folke Bernadotte, U. N. mediator, would not give the final go-ahead on sending the truce observers unless he had full confidence in arranging a cease fire.

Top U. N. officials were greatly encouraged. The Russian delegation, which yesterday offered to send Red Army observers into the Holy Land with other observers, had no immediate comment on the American move. An aide Andre A. Gromyko said the deputy foreign minister would study the announcement carefully.

Meanwhile several officials here pointed out that Russia can send military observers to guard the U. N. approval. It was noted that Moscow has established diplomatic relations with the new Jewish state of Israel and could attach military observers to any Soviet mission sent into Tel Aviv.

Salvation Army Drive Starts Here

Many of the citizens of Hempstead county will receive letters this week asking for support of The Salvation Army according to an announcement made by K. E. Moss, field representative of The Salvation Army Divisional Headquarters.

These letters are being sent out by the local Service Unit Committee which was organized in January of this year and elected Guy E. Bayse as their Chairman and Roy Anderson as Treasurer. The letters ask that the public make their donations direct to the treasurer in the envelope that has been sent along with the letter for that purpose.

Mr. Moss stated that a large part of the funds received will be used by the local committee to be used locally to meet unmet needs on a welfare and social nature arising in the community from time to time. The remainder of the funds will be used to support the general work of the Salvation Army throughout the division, this work will include the support of homes and hospitals for unmarried mothers, homes for homeless men, camps and club buildings for its work among young people, the training of its officers, and many other parts of its religious and humanitarian work as well as establishing a greater fund for the assisting in times of disaster when it strikes.

The Salvation Army has proven itself most efficient and capable along this line of work for many years and find that the demand upon them for a greater work is growing.

Many services unit committees are already operating in Arkansas and the establishing of the Hope Committee is in keeping with The Salvation Army's Marching Forward program.

Others who are serving on the local committee are Miss Norma Lewis, Poy Himmans, James H. Jones, E. R. Brown, Geo. W. Peck, Rev. J. E. Cooper, Albert Graves, Claude Tillery, E. P. Young, Jr., Charles A. Armitage, and Mr. Alicia Jones.

A meeting of this committee will be held at the Hotel Barlow on Thursday, June 10 at 12:10 and lay plans for a follow up campaign following up the letter appeal.

Mr. Moss will appear before a number of the local Civic Clubs this week and next week and talk on the "Two Fold Aim and Purpose" of The Salvation Army, and beginning tonight at 6:45 will appear on the local radio station each evening but Sunday and Monday through this week and next and will speak on the work of The Salvation Army.

States Righters Plan Campaign Against Truman

Jackson, Miss., June 8—(P)—Delegates from at least seven states are expected to show up for the organizational meeting of the States' Rights Democrats' campaign committee today.

Gov. Ben Laney of Arkansas named chairman at the Dixie conference here on May 10, arrived last night and is a guest of Gov. Fielding L. Wright in the executive mansion.

Laney said, "we are going to discuss and develop ideas. I do not propose to set forth a plan for the campaign. That will be developed from several different ideas that will be presented."

The committee was authorized by a resolution adopted at the Dixie session.

Its major job will be to put out information, Laney said.

The states' righters oppose the Democratic nomination of President Truman or any candidate favoring the civil rights program.

Laney said he expects representatives from Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Texas and Louisiana.

The flow of water over Niagara Falls has never stopped entirely, so far as is known.

Petrillo Says Union Will Take Care of Margaret

Ausbury Park, N. J., June 8—(P)—James C. Petrillo, head of the American Federation of Musicians (AFL), says he told President Truman not to worry about the union which took care of getting Margaret Truman a radio job no matter what the outcome of this year's presidential race.

Petrillo told the musicians' 51st annual convention he had reassured President Truman about the future during a concert in Washington last month.

As for politics, Petrillo said he did not want to indicate yet where his union would place its support this year. But he said he could always find a job for Margaret.

Top U. N. officials were greatly encouraged. The Russian delegation, which yesterday offered to send Red Army observers into the Holy Land with other observers, had no immediate comment on the American move. An aide Andre A. Gromyko said the deputy foreign minister would study the announcement carefully.

Egyptians Try to Fight Out of Jewish Trap

Cairo, June 8—(P)—Egyptian forces tried to battle out of a Jewish coastal trap and fighting continued in several areas of northern Palestine today while Arabs and Jews weighed their replies to the latest four-week truce proposal.

Eyewitnesses back in Tel Aviv said the southern front, at least one, and perhaps several Egyptian ships have landed troops on the coast in an attempt to rescue forces encircled at Isdud, 23 miles south of Tel Aviv and three miles south of the Israeli border. Jewish forces last Friday turned back four Egyptian vessels, two of them landing craft, in a battle off Tel Aviv.

The Jews said they have surrounded 1,000 men of an Egyptian force of 5,000 on the coast and were attacking in the area yesterday. The Egyptians reported capture of Misanim (Nitsum), a Jewish settlement three miles southwest of Isdud, in an attack which began with air and artillery support Sunday. The communiqué said 220 Jews were killed or wounded and 100 were captured.

Foreign and Hebrew correspondents on the Egyptian front in Tel Aviv to visit the southern fighting front suddenly were ordered to stay in Tel Aviv. No explanation was given, but it seemed that the encircled Egyptian spearhead had weakened the initiative. The Jews admitted the attack on Misanim and said fighting was continuing.

Tel Aviv was hit by successive air raids this morning, beginning at dawn. Planes, apparently light bombers, came in singly from the sea, dropping bombs over the main section of the city. There were casualties in a small hotel and market place. Previously the Arab targets in Tel Aviv have been mainly on the outskirts.

Tel Aviv's northern outskirts were raided twice by planes last night with some deaths and damage.

Jews and Arabs still disagreed over points in the truce proposal. Folke Bernadotte, the United Nations mediator, who has asked replies by tomorrow.

Abdel Rahman Azzam Fasha, secretary of the Arab League, said the league would give its final decision on the truce proposal to Bernadotte tonight. The Jews have not indicated whether they would reply by the deadline.

Bernadotte's plane left for Haifa tonight, but he remained here. The purpose of the trip could not be learned.

Bernadotte did not make public the truce terms or the starting time. A neutral source in Jerusalem said his proposal would give the military situation, permit food supplies to be sent to besieged Jerusalem's Jews, and forbid establishment of any new forward area munitions dumps. The informant gave this plan a 0-50 chance of acceptance.

The seven-nation Arab league wants no Jewish immigration and wants to continue the siege of Jerusalem.

Zvi Leumi, still considering itself an underground organization outside Israel's border, announced in a broadcast it will not accept truce terms for Jerusalem which will permit the city to remain under siege. The Jews hold most of the new city, while Arabs hold all the approaches.

Honeymooners Die in a Seashore Cabin

Senside Heights, N. C., June 8—(P)—Police listed car bomb explosion poisoning today as the accidental cause of the death of William H. Trz and his bride, found clumped in each others' arms several hours after they had started their honeymoon in a seashore cabin.

Ocean county detective Chief George Gibson said police were checking a refrigerator for poisons, but he said he had no further information on the cause of the poisoning.

He said the autopsy indicated Trz, a 37-year old Philadelphia machinist, and his bride had died on their wedding night at the beginning of what was to have been a week-long honeymoon.

The 31-year old bride was found lying nude in the arms of her pajama-clad husband. The discovery was made by the owner of the two-room cabin. He said the couple broke in Sunday night when he became alarmed after not seeing the couple since their arrival on Saturday.

Senate Votes to Let Army Enlist 25,000 Aliens

Washington, June 8—(P)—The Senate Finance committee voted 8 to 5 today to extend the foreign trade agreement act, which bars with less drastic revision than the House approved.

The committee approved the bill after adopting, 7 to 6, a compromise amendment proposed by Republican Senator Vandenberg (Mich.) and Miliken (Colo.).

Under this amendment, the president would have to notify Congress within 30 days if he ignores recommendations of the tariff commission in making trade agreements.

A House provision which the committee threw out, would have allowed Congress to veto tariff rates approved by the president in disregarding tariff commission recommendations.

Approval of the Miliken-Vandenberg amendment was on strict party lines, with seven Republicans for it and six Democrats against.

Miliken declined to say how the committee members lined up later in approving the bill 8 to 5.

The present trade agreement act is scheduled to expire Saturday. The administration had asked for a three-year extension without change. The House Republican majority slammed through a bill extending the act one year with the curbs on the president's tariff making power.

Truman Leaves After Visit at Sun Valley

Sun Valley, Idaho, June 8—(AP)—President Truman got physical and mental lift in Sun Valley before departing today on an automobile tour of Idaho apparently in a mood for fence mending, and "a fighting campaign" for the White House. The president's motor cavalcade left this Idaho resort at 8 a. m. (MST) for Idaho Falls. There the party will board the president's special train for Butte, Mont.

The political lift came from a promise by State Chairman Dan Cavanaugh of Idaho's 12 votes in the Democratic national convention.

The other was a ride 1,200 feet up this Union Pacific railroad resort, "Dollar mountain," in one of the chair lifts used by ski jumpers from all parts of the world.

The president conferred for 25 minutes with 25 Idaho Democratic politicians in the Sun Valley cottage of W. Averell Harriman, ECA "roving ambassador" and former secretary of commerce.

Emerging, Cavanaugh told reporters they had assured the president of Idaho's convention votes. He added: "We told the president we are behind his foreign and domestic policies and 100 per cent behind the Truman administration."

The gathering here was described by Cavanaugh as "a good Democratic meeting." It may furnish the pattern for such parties in the future on the remainder of Mr. Truman's pre-convention speaking campaign which heads into Butte, Mont., tonight.

The president will speak in the Butte high school stadium at about 9 a. m. (CST) in an extemporaneous address which the White House said would be under civic auspices.

The president scheduled a 9 a. m. (CST) departure from Sun Valley for a tour through Hailey, Gannett, Pico, Carey by Creator of the Moon national monument, Arco, Moreland and Blackfoot into Idaho Falls where he will board his special train about 1 p. m. (CST).

A top ranking White House aide, who would not be quoted by name, told a reporter: "The president welcomes a chance to talk to Democratic officials in every state. The only rule we have made is against inviting party officials to ride the special train and against speaking under political auspices."

This coincided with Cavanaugh's assertion: "I've read in the papers about

Delegates Will Cast Votes in Solid Block

Oklahoma City, June 8—(AP)—Oklahoma's Democrats, standing apart from any Southern revolt, will cast their 24 national convention votes as a solid block in Philadelphia next month.

The 32 delegates—10 of them with half-votes—were not given any instructions by the state convention that met here yesterday.

But the state party not only went down the line with endorsements for President Truman, but also named Gov. Roy J. Turner as delegation chairman.

Turner is a strong Truman supporter who has persistently avoided invitations to join the Southern "civil rights" rebellion against the president.

His state forces completely controlled the convention. This insured party harmony but reduced the work to such cut and dried formalities that only 500 of the 1,500 delegates were in their seats at the end of the day.

Some of those disgruntled delegates in Iowa and Nebraska who felt he'd by-passed him. He welcomed us here. If they didn't see him, it was their fault. We didn't have any trouble."

Soybeans, however, were independently strong. The advance came on reports of sales of soy flour to the army, and chipped at

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York June 8—(AP)—A rising stock market reached a climax late today when a new surge of demand swept prices upward by fractions to more than 3 points.

Steel issues led the late spurt. Earlier steels had shared market leadership with rail and oil shares. Volume expanded rapidly as orders poured into the floor of the exchange. Turnover for the full day amounted to around 1,500,000 shares.

The advance was the most decisive since last month's buying spree lifted the market to a 21-month peak.

Highs for the year or longer were scored by U. S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet & Tube, Celanese, Wesson Oil, Snowdrift, Westinghouse, and American Telephone.

Bonds were narrow.

Senate Group Would Extend Trade Act

Washington, June 8—(AP)—The Senate voted today to let the army enlist 25,000 aliens.

The 43 to 33 vote put the permission into the two-year draft bill. Senator Lodge (R-Mass) sponsored it.

Under Lodge's plan, the enlistees would be eligible for citizenship after five years of service.

He said the group would not be formed into a "Foreign Legion" but would be spread through the army for service.

The idea is that there are in Europe thousands of anti-Communist Poles, Czechs and others who would jump at the chance to serve in the American Army.

Chairman Gurney (RSD) of the Armed Services Committee opposed the amendment. He said he doesn't think the proposal ought to be linked to the Selective Service proposal.

"This is a fundamental change in policy," Gurney said. "Many people feel that such a move would subject our nation to the criticism that our own people are not willing to bear arms in defense of the nation."

As originally introduced, Lodge's amendment proposed enlistment of 50,000 aliens. He cut the number to 25,000 at the suggestion of Senator Tydings (D-Md) when it appeared doubtful the Senate would accept the larger figure.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

New Orleans, June 8—(AP)—Cotton futures declined here today under profit-taking from the long side and a small amount of hedge selling.

Closing prices were steady, 10 cents to 4 cents lower.

ing to dispose of the Lodge amendment and other proposed changes in the draft revival measure. They hoped for final action tonight. The House has a similar draft bill it will take up once the Senate acts.

Arguing for his amendment, Lodge told his colleagues:

"It has been said that perhaps the Russian government would not like it. In so far as that argument is concerned, it seems superfluous to say that our efforts to please the Russians have been crowned with success and that the Soviets are sure to vilify us no matter what we do."

Lodge said he has been advised that the Army Department approves his plan. He said a "mis understanding" in the State Department about the proposal has been "cleared up."

Encouraged by the fact the chamber was able to dispose of seven controversial civil rights amendments in yesterday's 11-hour and 19 minute session, Majority Leader Wheeler of Nebraska said he will hold the Senate into the night again.

But the chances of a passage vote before tomorrow seemed none too bright. At least seven more amendments await action, including one by Senator Russell (D-Ga) which also touches on the race issue.

The Senate wrote in one modified civil rights amendment last night. It voted 37 to 35 to outlaw the poll tax as a requirement for voting in federal elections so far as members of the armed services are concerned.

Southern Democrats talked for several hours against this proposal by Senator Langer (R-SD) but permitted it to come to a vote.

One said privately the issue was a minor one because most of the seven southern poll tax states still have in effect wartime suspensions of the tax for members of the armed forces.

Support of the Langer amendment by Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee and a candidate for his party's presidential nomination, brought charge by Senator Lucas (D-Il) that the Republicans violated a "general agreement."

Taft retorted that he knew of no such agreement. But Lucas said it was generally understood by senators interested in the draft bill that all seven of the civil rights amendments proposed by Langer would be shelved to avoid the threat of a Dixie filibuster.

Actually, three of them were, and another three were defeated without the formality of a motion to table—the device which, if accepted, kills a proposal for the duration of the session.

Tired, "All-In"—Listless Feeling Brought To Halt

As Vibrant Energy Is Released To Every Muscle, Fibre, Cell

Do you get up in the mornings still tired, feel down-and-out all day? Have you checked-up on your blood strength lately? Overwork, undue worry, cold, flu or other illness often wears down the red-blood-cells.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have positively proven that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin, firm flesh all out hollow and sagging. Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. THE STORY: Jessica tells Lucy she is going to marry David Gregory. Lucy asks her not to hurt Tom, but Jessica replies someone must be hurt. A few days later Lucy announces she is going for an all-day hike on Saturday and requests Jessica not to do anything until she returns. Mrs. Blake accuses Jessica of trying to lead Lucy astray. Jessica tells her mother-in-law she'll soon be leaving her house. "Good riddance to bad rubbish," says her mother-in-law about Jessica, but implies Tom will never let the baby go.

The next day brought a letter from Jessica's father. He was eager to see his grandchild. He regretted his past harshness and said that the war years had given him a deeper understanding of the value of family relationships. He asked her to visit him in Kentucky.

A flood of homesickness swept Jessica. Her father would like David, she thought. He would help her to get a divorce. She managed to get Lucy alone that evening and again thought

Gurdon Man Dies at Home of Son Here

H. F. Kitchens, a resident of Gurdon, died at 1:10 a.m. today at the home of a son, Ray Kitchens of Hope. He had been in Hope since May 30.

He is also survived by two daughters, Mrs. E. J. Cecil of Gurdon and Mrs. R. A. Biddle of El Paso, Texas, two granddaughters, Mrs. L. E. Pyle of El Dorado and Mrs. W. M. Ehrhardt of Camp Lejeune, N.C.

Funeral services will be held at the First Presbyterian Church of Gurdon by the Rev. Alternon Kilough.

She congratulated herself that an all-day missionary meeting kept Mrs. Blake away from the house that day. I won't tell her, thought Jessica. This is only Thursday. I'll leave Sunday morning while she's at church and let Lucy break the news to her. She decided to explain her plan to Lucy, but Lucy worked that night and was gone when Jessica came down for a late breakfast on Friday morning. She smothered a growing sense of guilt. I'm a coward, she told herself. I should tell Mrs. Blake myself now.

Later, Jessica looked herself in her room and completed her preparations. She must tell David, and wire her father.

"Jessica," her mother-in-law's harsh voice soared up the staircase. "I want you to go to the store."

This would be her opportunity to call David, thought Jessica. She hurried downstairs and was out of the house five minutes later, clutching her coat about her, battling the wind which howled around corners and swept down the street, raising a cloud of dust. Overhead, fast scudding clouds traveled across a cold November sky.

Jessica was breathless when she entered the small corner grocery. Hastily she consulted the list Mrs. Blake had thrust in her hand—raisins, nuts, and spices. More preparation for Tom's return.

Her high spirits suddenly evaporated. Tom! How little she thought she gave to Tom. What a ghastly homesickness he would be when he arrived and found that his wife and child had left him.

Her life, she thought defiantly. And I going to make a new life. The clerks were busy and she stepped to the rear of the store and asked to use the telephone. An instant later she heard David's deep reassuring voice.

"I'm going back to Kentucky, David," she said.

"That's fine," David approved. He said he would be at the station Sunday morning to see her off. He planned to come to Kentucky the next week-end to meet her father and explain his plans for their future.

Jessica said, "I can't believe it." She gave a sigh.

"You will. Happy?" Of course she was happy. She put back the receiver and turned to see Doris standing at a little distance.

She joined Doris and said, "I'm leaving Akron."

"When?" "Sunday," she explained her plan.

Doris listened with no expression on her face.

"Bill's home," she said. "We did the town last night and I'm a wreck today. Maybe I can keep that guy home tonight, having hot roast and pumpkin pie, and everything he likes best." She smiled happily.

Doris was too absorbed in Bill's return to bother about her affairs, thought Jessica with relief. "I'm leaving," Doris said. "A man who's been oversexed deserves the best, I say." Her tone was significant.

"You mean that I should stay at home until Tom returns, don't you?" demanded Jessica.

"I can't make your decisions for you," said Doris briefly. Then unexpectedly, "Have you seen David Gregory?"

"He'll be at the station," Doris said. "Oh," and turned her back and walked to a clerk, moved away and left Jessica standing by herself, angry and hurt.

She filled the grocery order and walked home alone, not waiting for Doris, unwilling to listen to her hints that a woman's first duty was to her husband. That was all right for Doris. She didn't have to live with a mother-in-law who hated and despised her.

If I could give one piece of advice to a bride more earnest than any other, it would be: Never quote your mother's opinion to your husband. Listen to it if you must. Act upon it if you will. But don't ever be dumb enough to throw what "Mother says" in your husband's teeth, unless you are marrying with one eye on the divorce court.

Mother may be a female Solomon. She may be a wizard who can spread a dollar bill over ten dollars' worth of merchandise. She may be a born executive. She may know all the answers and be a hundred times more competent to manage a bridal couple's affairs than they are.

It doesn't matter whether Mother is right or wrong, silly or wise, the one thing that no young husband can take lying down is his wife to set Mother up as the family oracle, and the minute the starry-eyed bride begins telling Friend Husband that Mother says we should do this, or we shouldn't do that, that instant another marriage is headed for the rocks.

Probably no other domestic situation is fraught with such danger as that in which Mother begins dishing out advice to the newlyweds. For she is rushing in where angels fear to tread, and if she doesn't succeed in messing up her children's marriages, it is a miracle.

Unintentional
Not that Mother is deliberately a home-wrecker. Not at all. She is horrified when Sally or Susie quarrels with her husband and comes back home with the baby, for she would deny it bitterly if accused of having been first aid to her daughters' divorce.

But it is true, nevertheless, that mothers are the ones who chiefly disillusion their daughters about their husbands. When Sally gets married, she sees her husband as the hero of her girlish dreams until Mama comes along and begins stripping his halo from him until Susie comes along and begins showing her the same old man in a single attraction that a wife can hang her love on.

Many and many a woman would never find out that her husband is just a plain business man, instead of a romantic fairy prince, if her mother didn't point out his defects to her. Many a wife loses her taste for her husband just because Mother is always making fun of his grammar and the way he eats and his taste in neckties. And the queer part about this is that Mother doesn't intend to wreck her daughter's marriage. She just can't bear not to be first with her children.

The worst feature, however, about the dominant mother is that she impresses upon her children that she is incarnate wisdom and she-who-must-be-obeyed; so they have no initiative whatever themselves. They begin every sentence with "Mother says," and that has set more husbands to roaming and made more peevish wives than all most any other crime.

Especially do men resent being managed by the remote control of a mother-in-law. For what practically every man marries for is because he thinks he has found a girl who believes he hung the moon and that he is an infallible oracle. There is never a divorce in a family where the wife "settles" every question with "John says."

So take the tip, you young brides. Never quote Mama to your husbands.

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

 By King Features Syndicate.

New York, June 7. — Governor Dewey interceded for three employees of a department store who have been ordered expelled from their local of the retail, wholesale and department store workers of the C. I. O. for anti-Communist agitation. He was snubbed by all concerned.

The store expressed confidence that the international, or parent union, which runs an appellate court for cases, would "assure that the rights of every individual member would be safeguarded in accordance with the American tradition." That confidence is not shared by the general public.

All the parties who joined in this rebuke to the government of the state of New York reveal a misconception of their own authority and of the authority of the state government which is paramount. They are not to be legally compelled to usurp the job of the industrial commissioner whose office was established by act of the legislature. They are mistaken.

It is not for the management of a store to decide questions which have been referred to an official agency of the state government for inquiry and recommendation. The management of a business may stand in fear of a union and so may express opinions which are impure. And no employer has any proper voice in any internal union dispute which this was nothing else but.

The question here is whether a union may expel members for acts within the "un-unionlike" activity. In the union jurisdiction this term is as broad as the terms "disorderly conduct" and "suspension" are to the police. He who shall cause a crowd to gather is guilty of disorderly conduct and any cop who knows the rudiments can provoke a protest by bawling at an innocent citizen, thus causing him to bawl back.

One Hackman loitering outside the shop sued plant, two sauntering ladies, swinging large retailers and one juvenile delinquent on his way to get his parents a deck of cards, the all-night dog-stand, listen. They are a crowd.

A "suspicious" person is anybody whom any policeman picks up at any time for no reason whatever. He is bailable, to be sure, but will need ointment and DDT as well as imminent and court-plaster upon his release in the morning. In the merry archives of the Chicago police department there is an old photograph of Willie Bluff, then on his way to become a social leader of the Hollywood trash, with the notion "general principals." Some unions have an equivalent charge, "disruption."

The three victims in the present case were tried by their local, according to its regular system, which was outrageous only in relation to the normal, legal rights of American citizens in orderly times. It was not outrageous by union standards. It was much formal and precise than the hit-and-run rituals of the operating engineers' and hatters' union.

There was a trial before a court-mittee, according to the union's own laws, and the convictions were upheld by an overwhelming majority of those present at a membership meeting. There was no reason to believe that the verdict would have been reversed by a poll of all the members, this local is a "left wing" union and that term has always included the Communists. The Socialists, Social Democrats and all such riff-raff are left wingers, too, but the Communists dominate the wing.

The political character of the rank and file here may be judged by the nature of the dispute and the sentiment of the majority. This was, in fact, an oppositist rank by a few individuals against the candidacy of Henry Wallace and the Communist treason. A great majority of the rank and file obviously will vote for Wallace and he will sweep many New York areas of employment where the patriotism is not "narrow nationalism."

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh A. Pullerton, Jr.

New York, June 8.—(AP)—A popular pastime among horsemen this week is trying to pick a three-year-old that can beat Citation in the Belmont Saturday. If you can do it, you probably can make a pack of money, but it is safer to bet on Citation at 1 to 10. The Calumet stable didn't win an important race last week and Owner Warren Wright probably needs that $80,000 or so. The Belmont publicity dept. lists eight winners of the celebrated stake which won a total of $1,070,700 during their racing careers.

Recruiting Note
 Dan Partner, University of Colorado drum major, risks frowns from the NCAA committee which enforces the "sanitary" code by checking in this item: "Lee Daniel Partner weighed in at eight pounds, nine ounces this week, and immediately demanded board room tuition, books and spending money."

One-Minute Sports Page
 Brooklyn fans still are beefing about the Leo Durocher keeps shifting his Dodger players around. But look how Lou Boudreau and Joe McCarthy have been making out lately by using similar tactics in the other league. Only two players, the Cardinals' Enos Slaughter, which will shoot for the District Three NCAA title next week, are out-of-state boys and those two aren't regulars.

End of the Line
 When the Chicago White Sox acquired pudge Pat Seery, he was assigned uniform number five. Said Pat: "It looks like I'll have to hit like the dickens to stay even with the other 5 guys in our league—Joe Dimaggio and my former boss in Cleveland, Lou Boudreau."

Riviera Course Par Expected to Fall

Los Angeles, June 8.—(AP)—Will the 7,020-yard Riviera course stand up against the salvos of the big guns of golf in the U. S. Open, starting Thursday?

The question will go unanswered until the 72-hole classic ends Saturday, but opinions today lean largely to the thought that pros and amateurs who make par cracking a habit may meet their match this time.

Riviera, par 35-36-71, wooded, trapped, hilly in spots and split by a barranca, or wash, that wanders through its fairways, has undergone preparation expected to make it a supreme test. Its yardage is the longest of which a National Open has been played. The 7,005-yard Colonial course in Fort Worth Tex. site of the 1940 open has held the distinction until now.

Produce rounds thus far have produced a few sub-par scores. Among low scores chalked up in practice yesterday were a pair of 67s by the big boomer Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, Va., and Ted Rhodes, Los Angeles star Negro player who serves as golf instructor to boxing champion Joe Louis. Snead, who lost in the national's playoff last year, hit such terrific wood shots he was putting for an eagle 3 on the 569-yard 11th yesterday.

Smooth-hitting Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y., tossed in a practice 70; defending champion Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., traveled the distance in even par 71; as did little Penna. PGA champion, Crack Amateur Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, who hopes to add the U. S. Open title to his recently bagged British Amateur crown. Loved the course in 70 and 71 rounds last week.

Most of the top fighters, however, turned in cards above par requirements. Among them were former national amateur titleholder Marvin Ward of Spocan, Wash., and the strong favorite, little Ben Hogan, PGA champion from Hershey, Pa. They came up with practice efforts in the 74-75 bracket.

Coaltown May Not Run in Belmont

New York, June 8.—(UP)—Calumet trainer Jimmy Jones stepped forward today with the assurance that Citation will have no trouble at all with the Belmont Stakes mile and a half distance Saturday, but that Coaltown probably will not run.

"I know this will be the first time Citation has gone a mile and a half," Jones said, "but I don't see where people get any doubt that he can go that far. He seems to like distance. He's only really getting started at the end of the mile and a quarter races."

But Coaltown, Jones felt, was a different story. He wouldn't commit himself definitely, but he said that Coaltown was an "unlikely" starter Saturday even though the junior partner in the Calumet three-year-old combine will be entered.

"A lot will depend on the weather—he'll surely not go if it's muddy—and on his workout this week. But the distance is a little long for Coaltown apparently."

That "apparently" referred to the stretch when he was beaten by Citation's Forge in the Withers Mile. Meanwhile, it appeared that five or six horses would go to the post Saturday in the $100,000-added classic which will give Citation his chance to sweep the triple crown.

Citation, W. L. Brann's Escadru, William Hollis' Salmingus, Glen Riddle Farm's Faraway and C. V. Whitney's Vulcan Forge were considered fairly certain starters.

UN Has Full Confidence That Mediator Will Get Results in Palestine Peace Move

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

Sweden's Count Folke Bernadotte was selected by the United Nations to mediate between the warring Arabs and Jews, has had wide experience in delicate missions and is reputed to be a man of high ideals.

Actually, he was picked by none less than the Big Five (America, Britain, Russia, France and China) at the request of the general assembly, and they naturally had the qualifications in mind. His task is about as tough as they make them, and the chief essential is that the embittered combatants shall be able to trust both his wisdom and his honesty. On neither of these points has he ever been challenged.

The 53-year-old count happens to be a nephew of King Gustav of Sweden, but his royal blood doesn't enter into the situation. What matters is that he is credited with being one of Europe's outstanding men of good will, he had devoted himself to the serious side of life, and is free of any charge having been raised up in political intrigue.

However, to get back to our mission, Count Folke Bernadotte has had a deal of experience in delicate negotiations and mediation. For instance, he was one of the few men who were able to talk to the top leaders of both sides in the late world war and to hear (and keep) secrets.

On three occasions he had an active part in effecting an exchange of prisoners between Germany and the Allies. This delicate work involved many dangerous trips into a Reich which was being heavily bombed by the Allies. So the hazards of war were not new to him as he undertook his difficult mission in Palestine.

The count's first task was to secure an armistice. Standing between him and this goal was the Arab declaration of the Jewish state of Israel, and the equally defiant retort by the Jews.

that they were there to stay and would defend their state to the end.

However, if Bernadotte can negotiate a truce, there's no telling how far he might be able to get as a mediator. One assumes that if he can secure his armistice he will proceed with the longer issues leading to permanent peace.

As for the chances of lasting peace in Palestine one must admit that Bernadotte will be a wizard if he achieves it, though stranger things than that have happened. The situation is grave but not without a ray of hope.

Churches Against Race Track

West Memphis, June 7—(AP)—The West Memphis race track fiasco received more fuel today from across the Mississippi river.

The Memphis Ministers Association adopted a resolution condemning the track here. The resolution said:

"We believe this (track) would attract many of the citizens of our city and county, inducing them to gamble, taking from their income thousands of dollars annually that should be used for other purposes."

The resolution requested Governor Laney and the Arkansas Racing Commission to "refuse to grant permission for the establishment of the track."

The action came shortly after the Memphis Baptist Pastors Conference had voted to ask Baptist churches in Shelby county (Memphis) to unite in prayer Wednesday night "that a triumphant God may prevent the establishment of the race track."

The group was told by the Rev. Aubrey Halsey, pastor of First Baptist church here: "Unless God intervenes there will be a race track in West Memphis. Ninety per cent of the political and financial control of the county is for it."

Yesterday the West Memphis First Baptist church adopted a prepared statement against the track at the morning worship service.

But one of the track's backers, C. Leroy King, Jr., of Memphis, said he thinks the track will be able to operate as planned. He said it was getting heavy support in Mississippi, Arkansas and Memphis.

"We anticipated a controversy," he said. "I am only sorry that it figured in a disagreement between Mayor Pleasant and the governor of Arkansas."

Last week Governor Laney said Mayor James Pleasant of Memphis had told him that Memphis political leaders could not follow Laney in his "states rights" fight unless he turned down the race track proposal.

Lator, Laney said the conversation might affect his decision, because, he added, he doesn't respond to pressure.

The Arkansas racing commission has announced it would open sealed bids June 23 on a franchise to operate a race track in Crittenden county, of which West Memphis is the county seat.

But chairman S. J. Carnes of Camden said this did not mean the commission definitely intends to authorize the track.

King said that if the commission authorized the track would hold its season in April. "It ought to follow the Hot Springs meet," he said. "We would get horses from many different sources."

In Jonesboro, copies of petitions opposing the track and addressed to Governor Laney appeared in all Sunday school rooms of the First Presbyterian Church. They were sponsored by the Youth Fellowship Organization and sent to all the other churches here and to Presbyterian churches in 10 eastern Arkansas cities.

COMMISSION TO OPEN BIDS

Little Rock, June 7—(AP)—The Arkansas Racing Commission will open bids for a franchise to operate a race track in Crittenden county, but Chairman S. J. Carnes of Camden says that doesn't mean the commission definitely intends to authorize the track.

An application has been filed for a track at West Memphis, and as a result some Memphis interests have protested.

The bids will be opened here June 23.

Girls State Officers Are Nominated

Little Rock, June 7—(AP)—Arkansas Girls State planned to elect county officers today after having chosen municipal officials yesterday.

Girls state, being held at nearby Camp Robinson, is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary as a week-long governmental study for some 275 girls.

Municipal officers for the state's four "cities" include:

Washington—Mayor Jimmie Blackmon; clerk, Joan Chidlow; Camden; Pat Frickie; St. Louis; Louise Steider, West Helena.

Jefferson—municipal judge, Peggy Prier; Stuttgart, aldermen, Marilyn May, Camden at Farnsworth Fort Smith; Lincoln; mayor Sue Ellen Young, Fort Smith; municipal judge, Liz Copeland; Paragould; treasurer, Lena Williams; Magnolia; clerk, Margie Kiley; Stuttgart, aldermen Marilyn Nevelly; Stuttgart; Lela Hines, Magnolia; Louise Steider, West Helena.

Wilson—municipal judge, Rachel Kuechenmeister; Hot Springs, treasurer, Viva Jean Taylor; Pine Bluff; aldermen, Margaret Seiden-schwartz, Stuttgart; Pat Doyle Pine Bluff; Sue Harris, Stuttgart; Jackie Purnell, Paragould.

Fighters Will Take Most of the Money

Newark, N. J., June 8—(AP)—The "seven millionaires" who are promoting the third Rocky Graziano-Tony Zale fight, here tomorrow night won't get rich but Rocky and Tony will do all right.

A little matter of a guarantee posted in New Jersey assures Graziano, the middleweight champ, of at least $120,000. The ex-champ from Gary, Ind. will get $80,000 or more.

Neither Graziano nor Zale are close to the Dempsey-Tunney pay-off but they should have a little stacked away for their old age. In the first fight they each took $78,892. As defending champ in Chicago last July, Zale was paid $152,993 and the Rock $76,484.

These figures add up in a nice neighborhood. For Zale it's $231,860 for two starts and $155,976 for Graziano.

Despite early optimistic estimates of a Ruppert Stadium gate of $500,000, looks now as though it will settle for $350,000. At $30 tops the house is sealed for a $540,000 sellout.

Graziano still is banned in his home town. In fact, he is not even allowed to set foot in New York where the athletic commission has ruled the crown "in abeyance."

Apparently the eight-year youth advantage of Graziano, who is 23 to Zale's 31, is the most important factor with those who bet on fights. Rocky was established as a nearly favorite and remains 5 to 12 despite the late hour.

Citation Marks Time for the Belmont Open

New York, June 7—(UP)—Only the question of whether he can go the mile and a half distance stood between Citation and the triple crown today as the Calumet comet marked time before Saturday's running of the Belmont stakes.

There were few along the rail who nursed any doubts about how 1948's wonder horse would fare in the 1 1/2 mile running of the $100,000-added classic come the week's end. They figured him an even greater "chick" than when he breezed to pushover victories in the Kentucky Derby and The Preakness.

Too, he has raced at Belmont twice and won both times—first the Futurity trial and then the Futurity itself.

But the fact remained that Citation has never gone the mile and a half and that—if anything—will make it a horse race when the bugle sounds at spacious Belmont.

Certainly there was no opposition to the effort.

Even the Calumet myth was destroyed by the defeat of Citation's stallionmate in the Withers Mile two weeks ago.

Nearly every indication imaginable pointed to Citation's victory in the Belmont—an event which would make the Calumet the eighth horse in history to win the triple crown.

Those which have done it before are Sir Barton in 1919; Gallant Fox in 1930; Omaha in 1935; War Admiral in 1937; Whirlaway in 1941; Count Fleet in 1943 and Assault in 1946.

Travelers Take Four in Row for Best Effort of Season

By the Associated Press

The Birmingham Barons dropped a little closer to the Southern Association's second division last night in losing to Little Rock, 5-3, for their seventh consecutive loss. The Travelers have now won four in a row, their best effort this season.

In other games, Nashville, increased its league lead to six full games by rallying for two runs in the last of the ninth to beat Mobile 6-5. Auburn blanked Memphis, 6-0, or Norman Brown's five hits, and Chattanooga shutout New Orleans, 6-0, on Vera Curtis' six-inning.

Jim Hedecock, Barons ace, had hurled a shut ball with only two walks until he blew up in the seventh at Little Rock and the Travelers scored all their runs. The Barons were leading at the time, 3-0. After a double, three singles and an error had gotten the rally underway, Pitcher Marvin Stuart unloaded the bases with a double as the crowning blow.

Games Tonight:

Atlanta at Memphis
Mobile at Nashville
Birmingham at Little Rock
New Orleans at Chattanooga

Taft Looks to Support of Midwest

By JACK BELL

Washington, June 8—(AP)—Associated Press today Republican presidential hopeful Robert A. Taft is counting heavily on midwestern support in what may be an all-out drive on the third or fourth convention ballot.

Altogether Taft himself has denied putting out any feelers, there are signs that the Ohio senator's friends are trying to get cozy with some of Harold E. Stassen's midwestern delegates.

The dog-eat-dog hostility of the Stassen turning to Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan if the former Minnesota governor finds he himself can't make the nomination grade at Philadelphia.

But the Taft camp insists this isn't necessarily so. They contend the possibility isn't too remote that Stassen might throw his strength to the Ohioan.

In any event, the Taft strategists figure they can cut into Stassen's midwestern strength even if the Bluff's Sue Harris, Stuttgart; Jackie Purnell, Paragould.

Stassen now has Minnesota's 22 votes tucked away along with 10 of the 27 in Wisconsin. He will get most, if not all of Nebraska's 15 on the first ballot. He claims a majority of Iowa's 23, but the Taft camp credits him with only six there, claiming 14 for themselves.

The Taft people even have some hopes of breaking into the 41 Michigan votes that are lined up for Vandenberg—if the Michigan senator really has been trying to come him for a nomination he says he doesn't want.

House Speaker Joseph W. Martin, another GOP darkhorse possibility, indicated he also is in a receptive mood. He told Massachusetts Republican delegates at Boston yesterday he would welcome support for the nomination in the event of a deadlock.

Martin is a member of the 35-vote bay state delegation which hasn't decided which of its three "favorite sons" to support. Besides Martin the others are Senators Leverett Saltonstall and Henry Cabot Lodge.

Lodge was named yesterday to head the resolutions committee which will draft the 1948 Republican platform.

There already are rumblings of at least one fight that may break among platform framers. A Taft-backed long-range housing bill has passed the Senate, but Republican leaders in the House are showing no signs of going along with that bill.

A substitute is being drafted now by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich.), who has a loud voice in House economic policy.

So far as foreign policy is concerned, Lodge is a member of the Senate foreign Relations Committee and is expected to press for a plank in accord with the bi-partisan leadership exerted by Vandenberg.

Both Stassen and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York gave their endorsement to Vandenberg's foreign policy views yesterday in backing the Michigan senator's drive to restore cuts made in the foreign aid funds.

Stassen was visiting in Hartford, Conn., in pursuit of "second choice" votes from the state's 10-vote delegation, now pledged to favorite son Senator Raymond E. Baldwin.

Dewey meanwhile headed south for a three-day visit in Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina in search of added delegates. He has invited all convention delegates to visit him when he opens Philadelphia headquarters June 20.

On the Democratic side, reaction on Capitol Hill was divided on President Truman's western trip. Southerners who have been fighting the president's nomination because of his civil rights program said that if Mr. Truman's sparse crowd in a 10,000 seat hall in Omaha is repeated elsewhere, they think the president might reconsider his decision to run. But they admitted their hopes on this score are faint.

Sisler Turns on Former Teammates

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

It never fails—trade away a guy and he comes back to make you rue the day.

Eddie Dyer, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, is the latest to feel the wrath of his discarded player. Dyer must have had moments of regret last night when Dick Sisler, former Redbird first baseman, cracked two home runs to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-1 victory over the Cardinals.

Sisler was traded by Dyer to the Phillies just before the opening of the season for infielder Ralph Lapointe after he lost out as regular first baseman to Nippy Jones.

Buoyant answer to Back Road and Boulevard

White sidewall tires, as illustrated, available at extra cost.

REMEMBER that rough patch of road up yonder where the ruts and ridges make a washboard seem smooth?

Recall the tiring tenseness brought on by the drum and hum of road noise and tremor even over smooth concrete highways?

Well, clock away the miles in this stunningly styled Buick — and meet up with the sweetest answer to such matters this side of cloud cruising.

"It's a ride that's soft and smooth as velvet," folks tell us. And we tell them it comes from a host of things.

It comes from the ample road-weight of a two-ton car built low and wide — and so beautifully balanced it handles light as a baton.

It comes from the leveling buoyancy of Buick's all-coil springing which puts a pillow of deeply coiled steel at each wheel to soak up the bumps and ripples.

It comes from the softness of bigger, lower-pressure tires that cushion away road tremors and roughness — from the sure-footed, swerve-free steadiness of Buick's extra wide Safety-Ride rims, widest in the industry.

And it comes in special measure from a brand-new engineering gem we call Vibra-Shielding which banishes vibration build-up.

Here for the first time you're freed from the motoring fatigue brought on by tiny tremors piling up into bigger ones. Here your miles are made moss-soft and quiet — long journeys become mere jaunts.

So why delay knowing the most buoyant answer to any road you ever traveled?

Come visit us now. Know at first hand the distinctive styling, the flashing action, the velvety ride over highway and byway that are Buick's and Buick's alone.

Then follow your heart's desire and get your order in promptly. We'll take it in proper sequence whether or not you have a car to trade.

REASON FOR THE VIBRA-SHIELDED RIDE

Placed with scientific exactness, 3 fat cushions of special composition cradle the engine so as to control its vibration frequency. Engine vibration is thus kept "out of tune" with those that might come from other parts of the car. The result is to shield car occupants against jarring pulsations, cut road noise, make engine sensation almost imperceptible and motoring practically fatigue-free.

BUICK alone has all these features

- * DYNAFLOW DRIVE (Optional Roadmaster Series)
- * TAPER-THRU STYLING (Super and Roadmaster)
- * VIBRA-SHIELDED RIDE * SAFETY-RIDE RIMS
- * HI-POISED FIREBALL POWER
- * ROAD-RITE BALANCE * RIGID TORQUE-TUBE
- * QUADRUFLUX COIL SPRINGING
- * SOUND-SORBER TOP LINING (Super and Roadmaster)
- * DUOMATIC SPARK ADVANCE * FLEX-FIT OIL RINGS
